Continuation of Disposition of Claims: Claims subject to restriction and/or election requirement are 44-47, 54-56, 60, 61, 64-69, 76, 77, 81-85 and 87-100.

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. The election in the response filed on 8/15/07 is non-compliant because the claim listing for the elected species is incorrect. The applicant had elected to prosecute Invention II, which is a method of treating vascular aneurysm. Therefore, claims 44-47, 54-56, 60, 61, 64-69, 76, 77 and 87-94 are automatically non-elected since they are directed towards the device. Thus, the subsequent election of a specific specie should only be applied to the current elected claims (claims 81-85 and 95-100). If the method claims are found to be generic to the species requirement, then no further specie election is required.

The restriction from the previous Office action mailed on 7/12/07 is reproduced below for the applicant's convenience.

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 44-47, 54-56, 60, 61, 64-69, 76, 77, 87-94 drawn to an implantable device, classified in class 623, subclass 1.15.
 - II. Claims 81-85 and 95-100 drawn to a method of treating a vascular aneurysm, classified in class 606, subclass 200.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

3. Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case, the product as claimed is not limited for use in treating aneurysm. The product can be used to increase the diameter of a flow constricted vessel, or it can also be used to join two tubular segments together.

4. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species I, as shown in Fig. 5b, is directed towards an interwoven stent having a cylindrical body.

Species II, as shown in Fig. 14, is directed towards a helical stent (thus not having a cylindrical body).

Species III, as shown in Fig. 18, is directed towards a reticulated stent having a cylindrical body.

The species are independent or distinct because they are mutually exclusive, they are not obvious variants, and have materially different design.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, there are no generic claims.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.
MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Darwin P. Erezzo whose telephone number is (571) 272-4695. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F (8:00-4:30).
